Travis County offices delayed start

Tomorrow, March 5, Travis County non-essential personnel will have a delayed start due to inclement weather, opening at 1 p.m. Essential personnel should report for duty. If an employee is unsure of the essential or non-essential nature of his or her job, he or she should contact their manager for clarification.

Starting as early as 10 p.m. tonight, drivers should slow down and drive safely. They should also monitor local media reports for updates on weather and traffic conditions.

In the event that the weather worsens, Travis County employees should check for updates regarding County office hours.
